It is probable the offer was made to Mr. Holt THE POOR YE HAVE ALWAYS WITH YOU

We are requested to state that the citizens of the Eighth Ward will meet thi evening at 71% o'clock, at the Twelfth Street Methodist Church, to devise mean for assisting the destitute during the win ter. We hope and believe this call will meet with a prompt response from those whom fortune has farored. No winter omes but what the poor suffer more or less t is not only those who are unable to laor, but there are others, indigent women especially, willing to work, yet who can btain no employment. They must b provided for, and humanity calls upon all who can contribute, even if it be but a

By the use of improper glasses ome approach nearer vision than other without aggravating the evils which they are intended to remedy. Mr. Sincere's skill in adapting glasses to the eye is well known in our city, and by obing his services everybody may be sure that speedy relief and recreation is afforded. The Optical Institute is on Main street, under the National Hotel. * DIRECT FROM CHARLESTON—SOUTH CARO-LINA WILL SECEDE BEFORE CHRISTMAS.-

A letter from a distinguished citizen of South Carolina to a gentleman of this city. has been shown us. He writes that nearly every member elected to the Convention is for immediate secession, and that outh Carolina will undoubtedly secede before Christmas, and possibly by the 20th. He says: "No treaty with any State in the North that will not surrender the fugitive slave or pay for the same." Our old friend Sam Thornton, formerly of the United States Hotel, is fitting up one of the finest saloons in the city at the Tremont House, on Sixth street, b tween Main and Market, and will be opened the latter part of next week. Sam is : clever fellow, and will always keep on hand the best liquors and cigars.

Destructive Fire at New Albany-Pork House Burned-Loss Ninety Thousand Dollars.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning ire broke out in the extensive pork hous f Hamilton & Lewis, in New Albany, and n a short space of time the whole building was wrapped in one sheet of fire, and the pork house, together with the slaughering, packing, hanging, engine, bulking, and lard houses, were totally destroyed. The fire was caused by letting off the gas from one of the lard tanks, which ignited from a candle in the hands of a workman. The alarm was immediately given by the engineer sounding his whistle, but the patches, River and Steamboat News. fire gained such headway, and the flames spread with such fury, that those about the establishment were hurried out, unable to save anything but the books, papers and money. At the time of the alarm, Mr Lewis, one of the proprietors, and five or six others were asleep in the office, and barely made their escape, such being the rapidity of the spread of the devouring ele The packing at this house had been go > it was filled with the hog product. In the lard tanks it is estimated that there were 18,000 lbs of lard, and in the bulking-house ,300 hogs in bulk, all of which were con sumed by the devouring element. The smoke house contained 3,000 barrels of ork, and 1,000 tierces of lard, which was saved, together with 700 head of hogs valued at $70,000 and the house at $90,000 nus making the total loss $90,000, or which there were $67,000 insurance as fol ows: In Louisville offices $17,000, in London and Liverpool $15,000, and $500 each in the following offices: Ætna, Hartford, Lorrillard, Hartford City, Merchants', Char-ter Oak, and Washington. The $17,000 inurance in this city was on the building .-This loss will be severely felt by our New Albany friends, as it deprives one hundred and twenty-five men of employment. We presume that the remainder of the hogs to e slaughtered by this firm will be killed in this city at the house of Hamilton and

ng on for some time, and every portion o

The managers would appeal with great carnestness to all their fellow-citizens to co-operate heartily in this work of charity Let no one refuse to contribute because of inability to make a large offering. Every contribution will be gratefully received. MUNIFICENT DONATIONS .- The Port Gib son Reveille learns from a private source that a number of prominent wealthy citi zens of Mississippi have donated various sums for the purpose of providing the State with the means of placing herself on a war footing, and otherwise preparing for any emergency which may arise in the coming crisis. Among those who have thus contributed of their substance are the following: Gen. Clark gives 100 bales cotton; Miles H. McGee gives 100 bales; Chambers, of Coahoma, gives 100 bales; Jeff. Davis gives $1,000 in money; General Lamar gives $1,000; and Col. R. T. Archer, of Claiborne county, gives bonds in the Mississippi Central Railroad to the amount of over $2,000. Others have, and will, emulate the patriotic example of the genlemen above named, by giving largely of their means. The Reveille also knows of one gentleman in that county who will give one hundred bales per annum during the war, should a fight be forced upon us:

and another who raises over 1,000 bales, who will give his entire crop, if it should ecome necessary. THEATER.—The operatic drama Iome, Sweet Home, which was performed last night, went off with great spirit, and was received with the greatest favor. Miss Richings sung a number of little ballads in a style unequalled on the stage, and charmed the audience with her graceful and finished acting. Mr. Peter Richings was very amusing as the Chevalier. He is one of the very best specimens of a quiet, neat, and finished school of acting, pecu liar to the old school of genteel comedy .-The comedy of Peggy Green was admirably performed.

To-night the new drama of Miriam, or The Daughter of the Stars, will be per-formed. Miss Richings personates the character of Miriam, (the Daughter of the Stars), and will sing Benedict's celebrated song of the Skylark, and the exquisite gem from Wallace's opera of Maritana, of "Happy Moments." The afterpiece is the English comedy of a Roland for an Oliver. Miss Richings as Maria Darlington. In this piece she sings four beautiful songs .-We can heartily recommend these accomplished artistes as worthy of the largest patronage from the public. We hope to see a crowded house to-night. DANVILLE KV 1860

DANVILLE, Ky., 1860.

DEAR SIR:—I have read your letter with deep interest; but the time is past when I can do anything towards directing the passions of our countrymen. What I could I have attempted long ago, and under auspices far more hopeful than any that now exist, as, amongst other things, my published letters to Mr. Summer, Mr. Seward, and Mr. Breekinridge, may attest. All that is left to me is to stand in my lot, look the future steadily in the face, and abide by whatever may come. If the North insists on using the National Government to put down slavery—or if the South insists on using it to perpetuate and extend slavery—in either case the continuance of the National Union is impossible.

In other words, there can be no union of States—except by force or upon equal terms. For nearly ninety years—from 1775 till 1860—the public idea of the institution of slavery has found it compatible with the union of Colonies and of States. It is no longer so. The opinions of men must change, and their pessions must moderate, or we must not only divide, but must afterwards draw the sword, and, if possible, destroy each other If God has forsaken us, our country hweeked. If God is still gracious to us, it was will be found to extricate it from impending revolution. At present the human means of deliverance seem to me to consist merely in these two convictions which, after all, are settled deeply in the heart's of men everywhere, namely: that there are unspeakable evils in the dissoft tion of the Union, and that there are insettled of the constant of the order in the foundation of the Union, and that there are insettled of the order in the constant of the order in the foundation of the Union, and that there are insettled deeply the other order in the constant of the Union, and that there are insettled deeply in the other order in the constant of the Union, and that there are insettled deeply in the other order in the constant of the or ern States in the Union for the present and guarantee them in the future, or, if that be unattainable, looking to the peaceable separation of the States and the esishment of a powerful Southern Confederacy. And on the other hand, we are ready to dissent from the views and oppose the action of the most trusted and honred of our political associates in the past who may favor the submission and degradation of the slave States, or propose the coercion of seceding States back into the Confederacy, or advocate civil war in the Union to secure Southern rights. We desire to do nothing that may have the effect of perpetuating political differences among a people who should now be united-political differences that serve only to encourage their enemies in their aggressions, and to paralyze the efforts of their friends. To the Journal, for the present, we are content to leave all the honors to be gained in a partisan warhear's of men everywhere, namely: there are unspeakable evils in the dismittee, afraid, probably, that some of their friends would join in the Union Douglas Convention on the 8th of January next, eacy of the "Abolition policy" of Squatter overeignty, have called a Convention of their party, to meet in this city on that day. We pity the blind infatuation of men whose party spirit, untamed and unameiorated by the perils of this hour, leads them on in the pursuit of mere party ends, though each step they take but adds to exsting complications, from which it is more mether do I see it to be impossible that they should do so.

* * * If we can escape immediate convulsions, what will occur, in my opinion, will be the gradual consolidation of the entire South, in one opinion and upon one man (probably Mr. Breckinridge) by 1864; and the permanent triumph of the Democratic party in 1864, by means of the united South, and a certain portion, more or less considerable, of the Northern States. This is the best result I see to be possible; and I who say this am an old-dashioned Republican of the school of 1738—a Clay Whig—a steadfast Know Nothing—and never yet voted for John C. Breckinridge, though he has stood towards me nearly in the relation of a son since his orphanage in very tender infancy. than doubtful whether the wisest statesanship can extricate the country. The people, thank God! are actuated by no uch madness, and will not follow those whose acts demonstrate their want of pa-triotism and trustworthiness. Men who love party, as parties have heretofore exsted, better than their country, and would abandon the nation to its fate in a hopeless struggle to secure political ascendancy, are inridge himself. Nay, he is one of the very few eminent public men from whose lips not even a hypothetical case of justifiable dissolution was ever heard. And the day may come when the recompense to his country for the terrible abuse lavished on bin as a traitor to it, will be the sublime exercise of his great, wise, and dauntless nature in the preservation of that very Union, which the passions of men and the violence of parties have put in so much not worthy of public confidence, and have, as they should have, no hold on the popu-Horse Cholera .- A disease called the horse cholera is prevailing in Bradley county, Tennessee, and the citizens have

The Sentiment in South Carolina. The following is an extract from a private letter received in this city fr gentleman of high position in South Caro-

Lincoln is elected—and what of the country? What does Kentucky say to this? In South Carolina we have spoken—the decree has gone forth, and it only wants the seal of authority—"this Union is wants the seal of authority—"this Union is ended," our watchword, "resistance to tyrants is obedience to God." There is not a Corporal's guard in South Carolina opposed to immediate secession, and just as sure as the Convention meets, so sure will we secede from this Government. Yesterday we had a mass meeting of the District, and I heard speeches from Judge Magrath and others. Almost perfect union prevails. The papers will show you our nomination for the Convention. No Union ticket could get a hundred votes in the District; and this is but the echo from the mountains to the

I I have never seen a finer body of men. I hope our services will never be needed; but if they should be, we are ready. I cannot convey to you an idea of the wild enthusiasm which pervades South Carolina. No power on earth can stay the revolution. It has been inaugurated by the people. Politicians are pressed up to the mark by outside pressure. All they can now do is to direct. The struggle is to keep back the current until the Convention shall meet.

By every mail I fear to read of some collision between South Carolina and the General Government. Commerce is reel-General Government, Commerce is reeling and rocking like the earth under a nighty earthquake-the banks are sus mighty earthquake—the banks are suspending—merchants are going down—factors are failing—and amid the erash comes the cry, "Out of this accursed Union"—"Let commerce and wealth and business stand back, while we bring into being a mighty Southern Republic."

The fire has passed the Savannah, and Georgia is in a blaze. Politicians who a month ago moulded the sentiment of the State, now find themselves borne along in the mighty current of a revolution which they are powerless to control. They must be in the current or overwhelmed by it. The same spirit of revolution is passing up the Mississippi, and you will soon feel its shock even on the banks of the Obio. In our State, if Mr. Calhoun in all his might could rise from the dead, he would be as a feather in opposition to the movement.

A Suggestion.

Editors Louisville Courier: My deep solicitude for peace and quiet is my apology for seeming intrusion on your space. I offer this suggestion:

Let the Constitution be amended so as to remit to any State the political right of peaceable secession by two deliberate votes of her free white male inhabitants over twenty-one years old-votes to be taken after six months notice, and to be six months apart. This secures deliberation and prevents precipitation.

Having this remedy in their own hands the people will not rush into revolution. The details could easily be arranged by a general law, the retiring State paying the Federal Government for the forts and other public buildings.

I make this further suggestion as an amendment to the Constitution, viz: That the people vote directly for President without the intervention of electors.

of the arrest of Thread, the mail-robber, in that place a few days ago:

P. M. Cullen, of Olney, notified Gilmore, special agent, of the whereabouts of Thread, the mail-robber, whose presence was much desired at Springfield before a dissolution of the Union made the United States Courts of no account. Last night Gilmore, Sheriff Johns, Constable Lynch, and two or three others took a hack for Edwards county, a few miles north of Albion, to investigate the house of one Peters, the brother-in-law of Thread, where it was reported Thread was secreted.

About midnight the posse arrived, and after secreting the axes and other deadily weapons about the premises, opened the unlocked door, entered Thread's room, pulled him out of bed, and handcuffed him in a moment, amidst the criesof "Oh, sister!

a moment, amidst the criesof "Ob, sister! Peters! Help! Marder!"

Mrs. Peters, who is a young, athletic woman, struck the floor in her night-gown like a she tiger—gave a scream and called "Bull," seized a hickory stick and laid out Gilmore limber and helpless. The dog followed and took Johns by the leg. Peters caught Lynch and downed him—a Frenchman of the company came to his rescue—a blow with the fearful stick, aimed at John's head, caught in the folds of the heroine's ni ht-gown and saved the head of that "public functionary"—six or eight shots made the dog silent forever—a lamp boken over the female's head, cooled her ardor—various kicks, cuffs and buffets sent Peters off for help. Thread would not move to get into the hack—so by the hair, legs and clothes he was thrown in—brought to Olney, and is now on his way to Springfield by railroad.

We are not suffliently familiar with millinery terms and phrases to describe the garb worn by the lady, and we an only say that it looked very odd and outlandish. The entire dress partook of something of the Gypsy or Bayadere character, and the face of the wearer was swarthy enough to face of the wearer was swarthy enough to justify the suspicion that she was one of the descendants of Pharaoh. The hat was an exception to the general gypsiness of the make up. It was a black beaver, of a shape so nearly masculine as would have delighted the stong minded wearer of a Bloomer costume. But the great feature of the dress was the scantiness of its lower extremity. Like Cutty Sark's skirt, it was in longitude sore scanty, not coming much below the knee, and displaying a development of stout calf and ankle not often seen on Chestnut street when the walking is good. The lady of the abreviated skirt was gazed at by all who passed, and during her passage through the street she was followed by a crowd of boys who enjoyed the exhibition greatly. Who the lady is, and why she dressed so fantastically, are questions that are involved in profound mystery.—[Philadelphia Bulletin.]

SHOCKING ACCIDENT AT NEWARK -A

Shocking Accident at Newark—A tragedy of a peculiar and horrible character occured at No. 16 Madison street in the Fifth Ward, at 2 o'clock on Saturday night, a man named John Murray, and Elizabeth Burns, his mother-in-law, being killed.—An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Benjamin, which developed the following facts in the case:—
Murray had borrowed a gun from his brother on Thanksgiving Day to go hunting, but did not use it. On Saturday evenhe was cleaning it. He took the barrel from the stock, and in order to ascertain if it was loaded, blew into the mouth, placing the nipple near a candle, to see if the air affected the flame. Scarcely had he applied the nipple to the fire, when the gun exploded, the charge blowing the unfortunate man's head into a hundred fragments, scattering them over the floor.

The barrel rebounded with terrible force, and the butt end struck Murray's mother-in-law in the right breast, just below the collar bone, penetrating to the depth of some six inches, and inflicting injuries from which death ensued at 8 o'clock this morning.

from which death ensued at 8 o'clock this morning.

Murrays wife, hearing the explosion, rau into the room, and the lights having been extinguished by the explosion, fell over the dead body of her husband. The neighbors, hearing the discharge, came in with lights, when the horrid tragedy was revealed. The mother-in-law was found lying on the floor with the gun barrel in her breast, and it was not withdrawn till Dr. Osborne arrived. The husband and wife were found lying side by side—the former a lifeless and headless corpse, and the latter almost insensible from fright. The gun had not been used for some years, and evidently had a very heavy charge in it.—[Newark (N. J.) Advertiser.

DAILY COURIER

LOUISVILLLE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING...... DEC. 124 We again surrender our columns to our correspondents, among whom, we are happy to say, are those who have heretofore acted with each of the parties that have contended for political ascendancy in the State. Bell men, Douglas men, and Breekinridge men have all addressed their ens through our columns in the last few days, their communications appearing side by side, and enunciating substantially the same sentiments, and giving in all important points, the same advice. Letter from Hon. T. F. Marshall.

sinch the Say, that momentum are producted and the same of the sam of what she buys or take from the value of what she sells the same amount. Every dollar you add to the price of what she purchases is subtracted from the ex-changeable value of the article with which purchases is subtracted from the exchangeable value of the article with which she pays. A very homely illustration will make my meaning clear. I have an article worth eight dollars, for market. I want a hat. In Lexington hats are at five dollars. The city of Louisville, for the enoouragement of her own hat makers, lays a duty of three dollars on all hats imported from Lexington, which swells the price to eight. Now, whether I buy the imported hat or the Louisville hat, it costs me eight dollars, when, but for this duty, I could have got it for five. I have sold my article for eight dollars, when, but for this duty, I could have got it for five. I have sold my article for eight dollars. If I had got a hat for five, I should have had three dollars in my pocket; as it is, I have not a dime. Has not the value of my article been diminished three dollars? If, on the other hand, I purchase from the Louisville hatter, he pockets the three dollars, in the enhanced price of his article, and I havenot the melancholy satisfaction of knowing that my money has gone into a common treasury, but has been simply transferred from my pocket into that of another, without any consideration whatever, and by mero operation of law. South Carolina ascribes the superior progress of the North in wealth, and the development of capitalto this sort of arbitrary transfer. The navigation acts, too, are particularly offensive to her, as going to increase the price of freight, and thereby still farther swell the price of imported articles. In short, South Carolina believes that if she could get rid of all these burdens and incumbrances upon her trade, a tide of commercial prosperity would break upon her which must inevitably transfer a very large amount of the trade of the Eastern cities to herself. She designs, therefore, to make Charleston a free port. She is indifferent upon the sub-trade of the Eastern cities to herself. Sidesigns, therefore, to make Charleston free port. She is indifferent upon the sidect of her own navigation for obvior reasons. But she will give free scope the enterprise of all nations as her carrie and the purchasers of her cotton, deeing that the competition among them with bring down freight to the lowest rate possible, while the competition among pleasers will raise the price of her export. These hopes are not without foundations it appears to me. Charleston is me.

as it appears to me. Charleston is now connected with the Ohio river at several points. Her communications, indeed, extend by railroad to the lakes and to St. Louis. If she goes out of the Union alone, enjoying a direct trade with every manufacturing country in Europe, paying no duty upon her great exports, and imposing none upon limports, her merchants will be enabled to underself those of New York, Philadelphia, &c., I suppose, forty per cent., perhaps more. It will also cnable the English importers, in the enjoyment of a free market in America, to give a higher price for cotton. Merchants do not act from political considerations, far less from fanatical. Profit is the enly motive with them. It is hardly to be expected that Louisville, Cincinnati, or indeed any of the cities of the Northwestern States, would buy in New York or Philadelphia when they could obtain all European manufactures through Charleston clear of the duties imposed by the navigation acts to support our own shipping. The independence of Carolina and the establishment of a free port at Charleston would affect most seriously the revenue laws of the United States, the commerce of New York, and the manufactures of New England.

It may be, nay, doubtless is, true that the new organization by which the North the manufactures of New England.

It may be, nay, doubtless is, true of the new organization by which the No has become a unit, and upon a principle which divides the United State of the new bright of the new organization of the foreign and the sale of the s This accession overthrows the po This secession overthrows the powers of the General Government in several important particulars. All duties, imports, &c., shall be uniform throughout the United States. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another. When the Constitution was adopted the people of South Carolina were a party to it, and Charleston a United States port. Her secession will disjoint the entire commercial and financial duty as well as power of the General

dial duty as well as power of the G Government. A free port at Char will be a fearful preference of the p what was a State of the Union who Constitution was formed, ove will still remain in the Union will still remain in the Union. I will enter into a long inquiry as to the cof the present state of things. The form of the Present state of things. The form of the Republican party and though of Abolitionism in the electic Liucoln, are, doubtless, the immediates. The difference in the character ideas, and origin (though all English, were taken from different classes of lish society), and institutions of Northern and Southern people, generatification and ers—the greater progress of the Northern and southern people in the Northern and Southern people, generating the Northern and Southern people in the Northern and Sou

a different form of civilization and man-ners—the greater progress of the North in population, and by consequence in politi-cal power under the Constitution—are the remote causes. But high above them all is the conflict in the adjustment of a gen-eral commercial system between the real interest of the cotton growing States, who enjoy from their peculiar product great advantages in the European markets, and the manufacturing States, in which the Southern States have not the least interest, and whose industry has to be sustained by taxation in the shape of revenue duties.

capital purchases the cotton, transports it constrains to the city, and though carried in American bottoms, sustained by heavy tonnage duties, and charged with the commercial profit, is still preferred, because the merchant who purchased it comes the merchant who purchases it comes from Europe with a full cargo, which he exchanges upon the spot for the cotton he wishes. Whereas, if he had bought in Charleston he must have gone there in an empty vessel, and bought with money which he must have brought with him trieston he must have gone there in an pty vessel, and bought with money, ich he must have brought with him me Europe, or from New York, where sold his goods. The Southern road to ich I have referred as connecting Mocace, with the Ohlo, is the best built dI have ever traveled on. With these numunications, Charleston being a free t, would be enabled to exchange the ole cotton of the South against an equal use of European goods, which her then ended markets in her rear would be irely competent to absorb, to consume, it to pay for. I observe that the mertile interests in Charleston are united a man in favor of separation. That the would have another inestimable adstage to which I have just referred. In a state of things you will hear no more Southern cotton, designed for foreign racts, being brought constwise, and hanged or sold in the city of New York, that cost will be spared, when importons from Europe with duties off can if an ample market on the very spot crethe cotton which they want is grownessed as are not chimerical—at all ints they are the universal ideas of the plet of South Carolina. I do not be the General Government; it is not present interest to do so. But she not fear it, and defies it. Should annua attempt force, it will not matery vary the case from an effort on the of Lincoln. A Federal army most inly under the latter would not be ved to march through the slave States ush a sister. Kentucky herself, with er powerful proclivities for the Union, disarely not lend her soil for such a cot.

It is in vain to talk about the Contitution and Union now. Lega intermos silent. There is no Union now, the constitution which made it and which lone can secure it is trampled under foot, is clearest guarantees scattered to the winds, the Government in every part placed is aboutely in the hands of a consolidated penocratic sectional majority, united apon principles and objects which will last forever. In all our former party contests, both parties were national and had national objects in view. There was no sectional war made. The flends who havegot up this revolution, for it is no less, were despised and repudiated by both. Rejected of all, they started candidates of their own. Differing to be sure in their views of national policy, our parties were still national, and arowed and practised habit all respect for the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. The parties North and South intermingled their votes. Southern and Northern States were found together on either side. A Democrat in Maine was h intermingled their votes. Southern Northern States were found together ther side. A Democrat in Maine was ame animal with a Democrat in the nue South, a Whig in Massachusetts i Whig in New Orleans or Tennessee pattecks.

was a Whig in New Orleans of Tenners, and this is changed. Formerly the Presidential tickets were always divided between North and South. Not so now, Illinois and Maine, Lincoln and Hamlin, with a proclamation that slave and free States cannot live united under one national Constitution, now rule. Slavery must therefore be abolished. How? the modus operand they have not as yet explained. We would be supported to the same of the same o fore be abolished. How? the modus oper-modithey have not as yet explained. We can conjecture, however, what those would do who celebrate the anniversary of John Brown's execution. Ananniversary to be attended by the two Massachusetts Sena-tors and the first orator in New England, Wendal Phillips, who maligns General Washington, and places Toussaint L'Over-ture, the St. Doningo, pages, chief and Washington, and places Toussaint L'Overture, the St. Domingo negro chief, and John Brown, far above him, indeed, I am told, considerably in advance of our Satiour, whom it did not please to abolish slavery. I repeat it, that for the present at least, the Union is dissolved in the overthrew of the Constitution. We are still connected, but not united. The rights of a minor section are scoffed at, violated, trampled under foot, and that section, as rampled under foot, and that rection, as the Constitution now stands, has no power, substantial power to protect itself. Paper guarantees are of no avail—we can never have a deeper, or more selemu, under high-er sanction, than our fundamentel law, it has availed us nothing. What promises, what paper checks, can avail against the rampant will of overwhelming majorities, the unprincipled ambition of political demgogues, or, most unmanageable of all, the now to talk about star-spangled banners, and Bunker Hill monuments. That very Massachusetts who planted the tree, and watered it withher blood, has contributed powerfully in laying the axto its roots. No, no. Kentucky should study seriously, firmly and attentively the circumstances which surround her, and look facts full in the surround ner, and took facts full in the face without winking. Among these facts, the most important is the certainty of the separation of South Carolina. I can easily perceive the consequences, if she be permitted to seede without opposition from the Government. I have already indicated some of them. It is the case of an effort of the Government to prevent the cffort of the Government to prevent the secession by force that we should contemplate. No volunteers for this purpose can possibly be raised in any of the slave States. The march of a Northern army—Abolitionists of course, for Democrats of any school will not join them, nor will conservatives march with such a force under the orders of the President elect—the march of such an army by land will be remarch of such an army by land will be reservatives much white such a force under the orders of the President elect—the march of such an army by land will be resisted, and conquered. Should the President approach her by sea, a hundred thousand volunteers will rush to defend her, and effectually prevent the landing of the Federal army. Such an effort will be the signal of the instant formation of a general confederation of the slave States, unless it be Kentucky, and if I am at all acquainted with her temper, it will be found very difficult to restrain her, naked and unarmed as she is, and placed in a position of such extreme danger. Should the General Government attempt to blockade, aye, there is the greatest danger of all—should she attempt it, the South will look for aid in the navies of Europe. I know that the law of mations prohibits one power to interfere with the rebel provinces, or in the civil—dissensions and broils of another. Imperious necessity, or great and over bearing interests, especially when connected with power, never fail to ride over the law of nations, or international compacts.

mankind the greatest calamity of the age. The controversy on the subject of clavery had now reached a point where its honorable, rightful adjustment, consented to by the people of both sections of the country, evens indispensable to the contingency of the Government in its present form. The election of Lincoln hastened the critical day, his defeat could only have postponed it. I don't intend to say that one section was more to blame then the other; whether both were equally at fault, or whether the blame was wholly on one side. whether both were equally at fault, or whether the blame was wholly on one side. Criminations and re-criminations are now ustiess, nay dangerous. If possible, the very first thing done should be to restore the fraternal spirit which once existed. How shall this be done? By cheerfully and honestly assuring to every section its just eonstitutional rights. No section ought to ask more—none ought to offer less. As to what are these constitutional rights, that is a subject to be considered in a spirit of confidence. Mutual good will and devotion to the Union, for the preservation of which my constituents are ready to make any sacrifice any reasonable man asks, or an honorable man grant consistently with principle. In this spirit i shall meet the great question, and in coing so shall be sustained by an immense majority of my constituents. If time shall-show that I am wrong in this belief, I shall-instantly cease to represent them here. The people under God must save this nation if it is to be saved. The politicians caunot do it. What I may be willing to do, will avail nothing unless sustained by the intelligence and counidence of the people. There is a class of men North, and perhaps South, small in numbers and influence, who assume that the present controversy is a conflict of two civilizations, freedom or slavery must perish. The great body of those I represent do not thus believe. We believe there is no conflict of systems of labor in different States incompatible with the peaceful castence of the Union. We believe there is no conflict of systems of labor in different States incompatible with the peaceful castence of the Union. We believe there is no conflict of systems of labor in different States incompatible with the peaceful castence of the Union. We believe the slaveholding and non-slaveholding States may still revolve in harmonions spheres; that if the question of slavery destroys the Union it will be because the statesmen of the day are incompetent to the task.

THE LOUISVILLE FOR

Eighteen Hundred and Sixty-One.

Tax events of the year before us will be fraught with a greater interest to the people of the whole country than those of the exciting period through which we have just passed—as thrilling in their nature and as important in their results as they have been. For the first time in the history of our country, a political party, purely and strictly sectional, has suceded in electing the Chief Executive officer of the nation, and thus obtained control of one department of the Federal Government. This has alarmed the people of the other section, and precipitated movements looking to a dissolution of the Union. The whole country—and the people of all the States alike—are deeply and equally interested in what concerns the welfare of every American citizen, whether in the North or the South, and whether at home or abroad. We are evidently surrounded by pertia of no ordinary magnitude—dangers that may burst upon us in all their terrible reality at any hour. No man worthy of liberty can rest in

OPPICE LOUISVILLE COURIER.

TUESDAY EVENING, Dec. 11, 1860. f

The general features of the money market remain unchanged. Institute of things growing easien, is was anticipated, they continue to get worse, and though the demand to day was only moderate, pertive experienced great difficulty in registrating loans. The banks are only discounting for those who have but a short time to must be git citye and have but a short time to must be git citye and have but a short time to must be git citye and have but a short time to must be git citye and have but a small amount of loainess cone. The demand for Eastern exchange was only small, and in most cases was metal 1 premium, the bank rate. There is nothing doing in New Orleans, and we quote at \(\frac{1}{200} \) premium. The demand for flour is small, and the market closes dull and heavy with only a small amount of business in a retail way doing. The demand for flour is small, and the market closes dull and heavy at $4 for fine, $4 for for superflue, and $50,85 25 for the extra grades. The holders are anxious to sell but are unable to find purchasers. This day last were flour was selling at $5 75,286, and wheat was in demand by millers at $1,20,281,25 for prime red and white, while this year the market is dull at $100,281 for choice red and white. The receipts of wheat are very light, and as millers and declore ser lufusing to make any offer for $1, farmers are not inclined to bring their crops to the market. There is but a small demand for corn, and the sales have been limited. The demand has been principally from stock drovers, for feeding, and the transactions are all made in speal buts at $5, 486 for he wear and shelled. There is no old corn in the market. Oats are dull, with but few buyers in the market, and the sales are small at $0,033c, in bulk, and 35c, sacksincluded. Rye and barley remain unchanged.

Whisky declined, with sales at 18%6. The weather has cleared oil At Cincinnati yesterday the river had fal At Cincinnati yesterday the river had fal-len only three inches, and at Pittsburg it was rising with over filteen feet water in the channel. That is a good rise, and a very favorable coal boat tide. Though the Southern market is pretty well supplied with soal, it will be well enough to send along a little more in case of a freeze up. The Cumberland at Nashville continues to recede, with only four feet water report-ed on the shoals. The Clipper, the boat that sunk in the Cumberland and was raised again, and docked at Padaca's, arrived here yesterday

Molasses is dull and unchanged, with small sales at 22½30c for prime new plantation, while last year it found a ready sale at 47c. Coffee is unchanged, with small sales at 14½...

The provision market has come to a perfect stand still, and nething worthy of notice is doing. Moss pork is quiet, with no demand, and we quote at $15. The stringency of the money market is still affecting the market. On this day last year mess pork was selling at $15 50, which is $150 per bbl higher than the price this season, and the quantity of pork made this year will fall short of that of last year, with a prospect of as good a demand.—Parties are not disposed to make any contracts further than what they have already made, as it is as much as they can do meet those made. There is a fair order demand for bacon, with sales to fill orders at 8c for shoulders, 10c for rib and 12c for clear sides. These are the rates asked by jobbers in filling their orders, but in large lots they could be purchased below these figures. There is nothing doing in land.

Hogs are dull with none offering. They could be sold at $5 net.

The monarch of the waves, the great Atlantic, having been detained by the pressure of the times, or rather the delay in shipping produce, does not start to New Orleans until twelve o'clock to-day. She has most of her load engaged, and will meet with no delay on the way, offering every inducement for a pleasant and even insurious voyage to the South. All her officers are skillful, careful, polite, and attentive, Capt. Megill in command, with John Woolfolk, and Dick Fergason to attend to the passengers and freight interests.

The Peytons, from New Orleans, as we learn by dispatch to Benedict & Son, he agents, was at Vicksburg Monday norning at five o'clock. That is only thiry-five hours out, and a very good run on a business trip. She will be due Friday sight.

smooth altogether as oar regards the public confidence is and ability of the banks to maintain their liberal position, under the system of mutual co-operation, adopted on the 21st of November. The income of specie this week is thus far fully equal to the outgo. The latter, which was considerable early in the week, on Southern orders, has fallen off within a day or two, while in addition to the California and Hayana receipts, some parcels are coming in from Baltimore and St. Louis. The bank which held their discount sections this morning, again discounted in excess of their receipts, offerings again being pretty large—Outside of bank, there is business doing on very prime double name, short septral 12-61. The difficulties and discouragements at the close of the season of causi navigation, when the receipts are pouring in heavily on an already commons stock in store, and on shipboard, are undoubtedly overwhelming, and while brave efforts have been made to stem them, the wealthiest of the trade, as they stood a few weeks ago, are at length compelled to yield.

The New Orleaus Piczytine of Saturday 5878: The huge City of Memphis has, we learn, been laid up at Cairo, in deference to the mandate of hard times.

We see it; stated that the officers and crews of the Memphis and Vicksburg U. S. Mail Packets have addressed a communication to Capt. MeManus, Superintendent of the Line, proposing a reduction in their wages, until there is a decided imprevement in the business of the Line. The Mariner, Capt. Archer, was due from Memphis last evening, with 703 bales of compressed cotton, to go forward to 30ston and Portland, via the Jeffersonville, Foledo, Wabash & Western, and Grand Frank Railronds.

The work of completing the new boats at the lower wharf is rapidly progressing, and in a tew weeks the low-pressure J. A. Cotten will be ready to raise steam. She will have two distinct ladies steam, including the Jacob Strader. The Cincinnati Gazette of this morning says of hogs and provisions:

The receipts of hogs are light, comprising only 4,000 head since Saturday, but moderate as are the offerings, they are in excess of the demand. About 1,000 head sold to-day at from $5 for fair averages down to $4 75 for light, and in the afternoon heavy hogs were offered at $5, and late in the day 200 De were obtainable at $4 75. Packers do not seem disposed to take hold, and it is doubtful whether, in the present condition of things, with political matters unsettled, and financial affairs very close, buyers would take hold freely at even $4 00.—

The condition of the trade is altogether more gloomy, and the bottom apparently further below the surface than at any previous time this season. There was more disposition to buy when prices were in the neighborhood of $5 than there is to invest now at $4 75. Provisions sympathised with hogs, and the market closed nominal at $14 for mess pork, and 4, 5% and 65% for green shoulders, sides and ham, Lard was obtainable at $5%. There was no demand for any article except in the small way. oat will soon be ready to raise steam

Arrival of the against his request, that he would not serve.

Mr. Boyce asked to be excused from service on the Committee.

Mr. Burnett thought the reflical to excuse grantlenich was extisardilhary, after they have made up their minds upon mature reflection, and in justice to their respective States, that they cannot serve. He was satisfied that the committee did not express the sentiments of the various sections. The Representative of South Carolina will only remain here a few days longer—why refuse to excuse Mr. Boyce? Is force the mode and manner of instituting measures with a view to restore peace and good feeling in the country?

Mr. Smith, of Virginia, replied that he would not use force. He was one of those who refused to excuse Mr. Hawkins, and now after the lecture of Mr. Burnett, he felt it his duty to vindicate his vote. Present affairs are big with the fate of the Republic, and discussion on the question was not likely to do any good. He, however, expressed his surprise and mortification that the Republican side of the House had refused to participate in the discussion.

Mr. Curtis wished to say that his party had not refused to discuss; he would do so at the proper time. He wanted the committee, of which he was member, to have a fair hearing.

Mr. Smith, resuming, said he expected the opportunity would have been presented of exhibiting the different views of members as a means of influencing and acting on the committee. He was anxious to see every State participate in the deliberations of the committee, and hence he could not excuse Mr. Hawkins, because if this be done, Florida would be unrepresented.

Mr. Burnett, in an explanation, said this cover. Mr. Boyce asked to be excused from ser-EUROPA: CAPE RACE, N. There is no political news of importance.
Italian affairs were unchanged. The garrison of Gacta had made a sortie, and were rison of Gaeta had made a sortie, and were repulsed with great loss.

The American money crisis had caused specie shipments from England, and the Europa had a considerable amount on board. Large shipments were expected to be made by the Atlantic, which is to sail on the 5th. These movements had caused, on the 30th alt., a renewal of the with drawal of gold from the Bank of England, which had previously reduced its rate of discount to 5½ per cent.

The resolution was taken up relating to that portion of the President's Message relating to secession.

Mr. Hale offered a resolution that the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to inquire whether the expenses of that branch of the public service cannot be reduced without detriment to the safety of the country; and if so, that they be further instructed to report to what extent and what particular branch or branches can be dispensed with or reduced. Resolution was adopted.

Mr. Bigler then took the floor, having yielded it yesterday. He said he would go with the Senator from Illines, with the men of every party, who will devote them selves to the great work of rescaling the country from the impending danger. "Mr. President, for weal or woe, I am a Union man. I am for the Union as made by our fathers. I am for the Constitution and the Union." Mr. Bigler concluded by saying that "in Pennsylvania and New York there were more votes than in all the States threatening secession. The Republican party has gained its let; vitory. Let us, then, remailt loguther."

Mr. Haveson said that the amendments will be made so that a State may be sued for damages to the amount of value for slaves refused to be given up. Such law is worthless. Mr. Hindman wished to propose an amendment to the Constitution. He was opposed to legislation for expediency.

Mr. Morris, of Ill., objected.

Mr. Branch offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the States be called on to-morrow for bills and resolutions, and that those relative to the state of the Union be referred to the Select Committee.

At half-past two o'clock the House adjourned. cipation will eventually take place in the Government.

Mr. Pugh said: Do you hope to continue the Union from the extraordinary speech just heard? When the people of any State, Territory, or sommunity do not desire slavery, my right arm shall go from the socket before I will force them to accept it.

Mr. Iverson said: I refer you to my speech of February 23d of last year, when I was in the chair. You did not say "yes" then. I refer to the Burns fuglitive slave case. case.
Mr. Fugh—That the only case—
Mr. Iverson read from the Globe to prove that Mr. Pugh did not adhere to what he had proviously stated to this session.

Union Meeting in Trenton, N.J. TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 11.—The Union Convention met to-day. A large number were present. Col. Wm. C. Alexander pre-sided, assisted by a Vice President from such county in the State. A committee on had previously stated to this session.

Mr. Pugh—Let me read the rest. [Laugh-ter.] I contradict that the Fugitive Slave Law was trampled under foot—
Mr. Iverson—Twenty years ago a report was made by the Virginia Legislature, proving that $10,000 worth of slaves were lost annually from its limits by their being sach county in the State. A committee on address and resolutions was oppointed, of which Com. Stockton was made chairman. Colonel Alexander made a strong Union speech, which was received with immense applause. After which Commodore Stockton made a few remarks and then read the address, which is a very strong and able document. It declares that the North has done wrong, and must retrace their steps, by the repeal of all the laws preventing the execution of the February of the February and state of the February of the Febr ngitives. Mr. Pugh—I do not believe that all the lave States have lost $100,000 by their futives. Mr. Douglas-Like many other laws, the u-itive Slave Law is not enforced in every State.
Mr. Gwin-If a'man runs off a horse, his Mr. Gwin—If a'man runs off a horse, his loss is a pecuniary consideration only; but to steal a nigger, it is comething more. I erty, and that slaves must be returne on claim being made for them. All this the South has a clear right to. She looks not to indemnity for the past, but to pro-tection for the future. The North is in the wrong as matters now stand, and wh the wrong as matters now stand, and what has been wrongfully done must be undone. Upon the adoption of the address, objection was made by Mr. O. S. Halstead, Jr., who regarded the wrong about equal on both sides. He thought the address ought simply to declare against any attempt to trampledown the authority of the General Government.

Com. Stockton replied at considerable length. The address was then lable upons. eft unexecuted unless it has been brought before a court of some sort.

Mr. Gwin—I do not uphold the sentixecution of the laws. Mr. Fitch-I know that in my State, for tength. The address was then laid upon the table, and the resolutions adepted, amid much confusion, but by a large vote.

Mr. Rushing, a Republican, attempted to speak on the address and resolutions, and Mr. Powell—Some time ago a negro ran away from Kentucky to Illinois, and the Governor of the latter Commonwealth did not perform his duty.

Mr. Wade—If I recollect right the indictment did not show that the party was ever in Kentucky. speak on the address and resolutions, and was proceeding to show that there was no wrong at all on the part of the North, but entirely that of the South, when, amid great confusion, the chairman came forward and said that it was evident that the Mr. Powell—The gentleman is evidently mistaken.

Mr. Wade—I don't know much about it.

Mr. Powell—You had better investigate the facts of the case, before you draw the attention of the Scnate to it.

Mr. Pugh—Is the gentleman (Powell) aware of all the facts.

Mr. Powell—The Governor of Illinois was wrong.

ward and said that it was evident that the convention did not desire to hear the gentlemen. He then put the question upon the adoption of the resolutions, which was carried. The address was then adopted by a large vote. Several Republicans cheered for free speech.

The following persons were appointed, under the 5th resolution, a commission to consult and advise with other States: Hon. Robert F. Stockton, Hon. R. M. Price, Hon. Peter D. Vroom, Hon. Jos. Randolph, Hon. Benj. Williamson and Hon. W. C. Alexander.

Mr. O. S. Halstead offered a resolution to Mr. O. S. Baton Rouge, Dec. II.—Abill providing for the election of delegites to the Stat Convention, to be held at Baton Rouge, othe 23d of January, passed both Houses, In the House there was a strong effort the put the question of Convention or no Convention before the people. The militar bill passed both Houses, appropriating $500,000 and providing for the appointment of a military commission and military buteaut, also for the organization of volunteer companies and arming the seaman and for establishing military depots.

The military board will be convened in mediately, and some one sent to purchas arms. An amendment of the House for bidding the purchase of arms at the North by the Board, was lost. A bill of the House, consistenting all goods arriving from the Northern States after the instead of the same for the purchase of arms was referred to the joint committee, an created considerable fun. Adjourned tito-morrow, when the Convention will probably conclude its session.

Independence, Mo., Dec. 11.—A party of four men went to the house of Morgan Walker, residing eight miles east of this city, and demanded of him his money and negroes. Mr. Walker, having been notified yesterday that such a demand would be made, had called some of his neighbors to his assistance, and when the robbers made their appearance they free dupon them, killing one and wounding another: the one wounded and the other two made their escape. The Sheriff of the county and a posse of men are in pursuit. The robbers are from Kansas, and were betrayed by a man whom they had pressed into their service. There is great excitement here in regard to it, and should the hung. The Santa Fe mail due to-day, failed to
